

The objective is a safe return to the valley

The Bell 47 helicopter with registration number YU-HAK, the legendary Burduš, was saving people in Mojstrovka as early as 1968 – less than a year after it became part of the then aviation unit of the military armed forces. There are several similar ones on display in museums across the world, but the models that you can see in the Slovenian Alpine Museum could be counted on the fingers of one hand.

Let's have fun

The Slovenian Alpine Museum is an experience centre for young people of all ages. Events, activities, and educational programs are intended for socialising, upbringing, culture, and education in the spirit of the mountains and tourism. Most of all, we want all the visitors to our museum to have fun! The museum is an endless resource of knowledge for our youngest visitors, which is why we pay special attention to them. With carefully chosen content we want to give the knowledge offered by the museum to the budding explorers in a fun way that encourages their creativity. But all that is also interesting for adults. With the diversity of the themes presented at temporary exhibitions, museum evenings, projections, and workshops, we can invite even the most demanding visitors to our company.

In the world of Triglav fairytales

The Kranjska Gora tourist destination offers unique opportunities to all visitors. Dovje and Mojstrana are villages to the east of the resort, which are developing into a mountaineer's paradise thanks to the countless opportunities for alpine experiences. The pristine nature of the Triglav National Park, the Slovenian Alpine Museum, Ferrata Mojstrana, climbing sites and peaks nearby, as well as the frozen Mlačka gorge in the winter ... to visit them is simply a must.

Triglavskaya cesta 49, 4281 Mojstrana
t: +386 (0)8 380 67 30
info@planinski.muzej.si
www.planinski.muzej.si

You can find all the tourist information, information on accommodation, and tips on the local eating places at the museum or at info@mojstrana.com.

Published by: Gornjesavski muzej Jesenice, represented by Irena Lačen Benedičič. Photographs: Gornjesavski muzej Jesenice, Turizem Kranjska Gora, Jože Mihelič, Mugo. Illustrations: Danilo Cedilnik - Den. Translation: GORR. Design: Rosje. March 2018.

 Are you ready for an alpine adventure?

Experience the mountains in the first gamified museum in the world

Welcome to the playful path of the "Escape to the Bivouac" adventure Mountains are unpredictable. The weather can change in an instant. A storm is approaching and you have but one solution: escape to the bivouac! Will you decipher the hidden codes? Will you avoid the gaps and traps? Will you remember the right path? Will you find the right bivouac and be saved?

Each path has its own story. What will yours be like?

Enjoy the museum story that you experience as you climb the mountains. Through eleven content sections you will pass the milestones of the history of Slovenian mountaineering, alpine, and mountain rescue, get to know the impulse that has always drawn people to the mountains, and feel the unique attraction and magic of the mountains. The museum alpine trail is marked by Knafelc (target) waymarks. On your way to the summit of the chosen mountain you can collect all the stamps through various experiences, interactive tasks, and tests ... and receive a prize at the end.

The mountains are calling – a virtual experience of Slovenian mountains

Come and enjoy a walk across the Slovenian peaks with the help of 360-degree spatial photography.

The walk along the summit ridge of Triglav will take your breath away! Experience or re-experience it in our museum, even if only in virtual reality.

5 Along the ridge of Triglav with a climbing harness

A climbing harness is an indispensable part of your equipment when moving on challenging or very challenging trails. We use it along with a via ferrata kit when walking on secured trails. Put on the via ferrata kit and climb along the wire rope.

3 Choosing the destination and route

If there are no waymarks, a cairn will come to your aid. Add a new rock to the top of an existing cairn or create a new one so the mountaineers that follow will be able to find the right way.

2 The mountains are calling me

What treasures are hidden in our mountains? Try to find the treasure by knocking on the Bogatin mountain.

4 I'm getting ready for the trip

Good preparation is at least half of a successful trip! The most important part of each mountaineer's equipment are good mountain boots and a carefully packed rucksack. Think about what you will take on your mountain tour in your rucksack.

6 Weigh the frame pack

A frame pack was the predecessor to the rucksack, but is not yet completely out of fashion for carrying loads and material into the mountains. Sometimes carriers would carry frame packs of up to 80kg; try to guess how much ours weighs.

Start

1 Choose your mountain

Which Slovenian peak will the museum trail lead you to? Follow the signs marking the challenges at our museum hiking trail. Earn a stamp for each successfully completed task, and a prize at the summit of the mountain!

7 I hike the mountains and learn about them

The oldest inhabitants of the mountains are plants and animals. Let's make sure we do not disturb them during our visit. Rather than screaming, let's listen to the animal sounds. Can you recognise them?

Finish

12 I have climbed to the top of the mountain

On every peak, a prize awaits the mountaineers – a breathtaking view. But at the museum peak you will earn a postcard with the stamps of your successfully completed tasks. If you were successful at them all, you will also be awarded with a cheer echoing across the museum.

11 Stopping over at a mountain hut

After a long trek you arrive at the first mountain hut. It is the duty of every mountaineer to sign the guest book. Sign your name, so we will know when you visited us.

8 Endangered plants

What has been so attractive in these plants for centuries, that we want to pick them as trophies and take them from their homes to the valley and our homes? Let us protect these gentle flowers. Which are the ones that are the most endangered in Slovenia?

9 A storm is coming!

Storms are some of the greatest dangers threatening mountain visitors. Unpredictable weather changes can surprise even the most experienced mountaineers. Experience a mountain storm at the permanent exhibition of the Slovenian Alpine Museum in the safe shelter of our bivouac shelter.

10 If an accident happens

Because bad luck never rests, we must always be mindful of our capabilities when choosing a trip, always set out properly equipped, and never forget that the goal is not to reach the top, but to get home safely. Despite all our care sometimes we need help from the rescuers. Do you know which number to call?